

NEARLY $1,400 MADE FOR DAY NURSERY

Sale of 15,000 Tags Insures Milk for One Hundred Babies During the Summer.

According to an estimate made this morning, $1,400 was raised as a result of the sale of tags made yesterday for the benefit of the Day Nursery and Dispensary Association.

Approximately 15,000 tags were sold. This practically insures a supply of milk during the whole summer to more than 100 babies. Those mothers who are able to pay for the milk will do so, but it will be given free to destitute mothers.

A corps of workers numbering almost 100 were entrusted with the tags, with headquarters at 1407 F street.

Mrs. Rose Fulkerson, chairman, and Mrs. Judson C. Welliver, vice chairman, of the committee for tag day, were pleased with the success of the sale.

One of the largest individual sales was made by Harold Van Buren, son of the chief of the division of vital statistics, in the Government. He is a boy scout, and such an ardent worker that he was especially requested by the Day Nursery Association. He is twelve years old. He made alone $20.

Others who assisted were Mrs. W. T. Chantland, who directed the distribution of the tags and the receiving of the contributions; Mrs. W. C. Anderson, president of the nursery board; Mrs. Wilbur Peter, Mrs. Ashby Leavelle, Mrs. C. L. Henry, Mrs. E. Swavely, Mrs. George H. Hoover, Mrs. Robert S. Walter, Mrs. J. H. Pilling, Mrs. John S. CITIZENS OBJECT TO THICK-WALL BILL

South Washington Association Approves Resolution Against.

A resolution opposing Senate bill 8750, designed to regulate the thickness of walls of buildings in the District of Columbia, was adopted at a meeting of the South Washington Citizens' Association in Jefferson School last night.

The bill, which was introduced in the Senate by Senator Martine of New Jersey, provides that walls of buildings fifteen feet in height or over shall be not less than thirteen inches thick. The present regulations require that they be only nine inches thick.

It was stated that the District Commissioners already have reported unfavorably on the measure, and that the present nine-inch regulations are deemed adequate.

Dr. Louis A. Johnson, president of the association, was not present, and Secretary Helge Murray called the meeting to order, and invited Dr. M. F. Thompson to take the chair.

M. J. Driscoll suggested that steps be taken to have a new building provided for No. 4 engine company, and stated that the present building is antiquated and without any modern improvements, and a menace to the health of the men who live there.

Last night's meeting was the final meeting of the season. The next meeting will be held in September.

VOTES TUESDAY ON RUBLEE NOMINATION

Senate Will Again Consider Him For Trade Commission.

The Senate will vote next Tuesday on the proposed reconsideration of the vote whereby the nomination of George Rublee for member of the Federal Trade Commission was rejected.

Senator Hollis last evening in executive session moved reconsideration and by agreement between Senator Hollis and Senator Gallinger, leader of the opposition to Rublee, there was no discussion and Tuesday was fixed as the date for voting.

With the Administration exerting pressure on behalf of Rublee, there is a prospect that enough Senators will shift to confirm him. The situation is close and doubtful.

SAYS BRITISH KNEW REVOLT WAS NEAR

Former Under-Secretary for Ireland Testifies Before Investigating Commission.

LONDON, May 18.—The British government knew several days in advance that the Irish rebels planned open revolt, but did not disarm them, fearing great bloodshed.

Sir Matthew Nathan, who resigned as under-secretary for Ireland following the rebellion, made this admission today before the royal commission appointed to investigate the outbreak. Three days before the revolt in Dublin began, the government learned that Irish leaders had been informed the Germans would co-operate with them in a great land, sea, and air offensive.

Sir Matthew said the Irish conspirators and the military were at once warned. The coast was patrolled day and night to guard against a possible landing of German arms, and it was undoubtedly due to these precautions that Sir Roger Casement was arrested a few hours after he landed.

At the beginning of the disturbance, the rebels numbered about 15,000, Sir Matthew stated. About 3,000 of these were in Dublin.

When the revolt first broke out, the rebels had only 1,500 rifles and pistols, only 825 being in the possession of Dublin rebels.

The Sinn Fein leaders had counted on obtaining their arms and munition supplies from the German auxiliary force, which carried 20,000 rifles and 1,000,000 rounds of ammunition when she was sunk.

"Irish rebel sympathizers in America contributed large sums of money for buying arms and printing seditious literature," the former under-secretary added.

Sir Matthew outlined the formation of the national volunteers, which were designed he said, as a counter organization to Sir Edward Carson's Ulster volunteers during the home rule strife. A vast majority of the national volunteers remained loyal, Nathan testified.

Sir Roger Casement will go on trial early in June for high treason. It was stated today, following his commitment by the magistrate who presided at the preliminary hearing.

Daniel Bailey, the soldier committed with Casement, probably will be tried at the same time, though this is not certain. It was reported today Bailey may receive some consideration in view of the fact that he exposed the plot of the Irish rebels immediately after his arrest.

Officials here profess to be without definite information as to Premier Asquith's plans for a new administration in Ireland.

Democratic Leader Kern's resolution directing the State Department to look into the safety of Americans in the court-martial area in Ireland will be buried in the Foreign Relations Committee.

Chairman Stone says that the State Department has been at work on this point ever since the setting up of court-martials.

Kern explained today he introduced the resolution at the request of constituents, and not as representing the Administration.

CONSULS IN MEXICO ORDERED TO BORDER

All U. S. Agents Called Into Conference at El Paso—Real Facts Wanted Here.

have been adopted, even refined, by the United States troops. They are quite as ready as their hunted enemies to take advantage of the country's geographical peculiarities, and have found that in night marches they hold a large advantage over the bandits.

Old campaigners in Mexico admit the average Mexican fighter will never go where he cannot see. Native guides leading American cavalrymen at night invariably lose their way.

Villa is the only Mexican who ever made a success of night attacks, and now that he has been put out of the running, the Mexicans find themselves at a big disadvantage against a foe who marches by starlight.

Forest fires are another aid, obscuring the troop movements with thick clouds of smoke which settle low over the landscape like fog. The fires are due to careless campfires left burning, and they spread. Few of them have reached the lowlands, however, and the grueling has not been endangered.

Most of the action in this vicinity has centered in the chase for Candelero Cervantes. Column after column has dashed out after the slippery Villistas only to return unsuccessfully. He weaves back and forth through the valleys dodging in and out, always just out of reach, but exasperatingly close.

To the south the soldiers are busy following up the advance of General Howse's victory at Ojo Azules.

Reports of Battle in Mexico Misconstrued

Colonel Sibley, reporting through General Punton to the War Department today on Major Langhorne's engagement with the Glenn Springs raiders, failed to substantiate earlier reports misconstrued as official at the department, telling that seventy-five Mexicans had been captured and six killed. He told only two Mexicans wounded and captured.

While the location of the fight was not exactly given, it apparently was in the neighborhood of Cerro Blanco.

Major Langhorne has distributed his command in several places on account of scarcity of water.

Unofficial information given the department is that Deemer and Payne had been left with a Mexican rancher who was threatened with death if he permitted their escape. Langhorne released them and pursued the bandits in the direction of Cerro Blanco, where he expected to overtake them on the morning of the 16th.

Troop movements reported to the War Department today, included:

Seventy-fourth, Seventy-seventh and 15th Coast Artillery left Fort Sam Houston for Del Rio, Tex.; headquarters First Battalion, companies A and B Nineteenth Infantry, arrived at Fort Sam Houston from Eagle Pass; Fourteenth Infantry, Second and Third battalions, and machine gun company, arrived Douglas. Thirtieth Infantry arrived Fort Sam Houston.

When it was suggested to the State Department today that the conference of consuls might be interpreted as forming the basis for a change in policy, it was denied.

"What is the occasion for getting this information at this time?" the department was asked.

"There is no particular occasion, we merely want reports," it was said.

Pershing's Expedition Keeps On Drawing Back

COLUMBUS, May 18.—The Northern movement of the American troops in Mexico continued today. It is apparent that the major part of Pershing's army will be concentrating at Columbus, on the outskirts of Casas Grandes, 125 miles from the border.

Information regarding troop movements is being carefully censored here, but it is thought the approach of the rainy season and the consequent difficulty of delivering supplies to the punitive expedition, is at least one reason for the rapid concentration, north of the original field base.

A permanent camp is being prepared at Columbus. Large shipments of lumber to Columbus, indicates that buildings being erected there will be substantial enough for any weather conditions.

Accompanying the Northern movement of the American column, the Carrizalito column has evacuated Acconson and under Colonel Baens, are marching south parallel to the American column. It is believed here, they are bound for El Valle, which has been completely evacuated by Pershing's army.

STATE PLANS COUP IN TRIAL OF ORPET

Rumor Josephine Davis Will Clear Mystery—Searching for More Veniremen.

COURTROOM, WAUKEGAN, Ill., May 18.—While deputy sheriffs searched through Lake county today for a panel of 100 men who know nothing of the Orpet case, State Attorney Ralph J. Dady guarded closely the secret of the testimony to be given against William H. Orpet, charged with the murder of Marian Lamheri.

Rumors in the courtroom today indicated that when the jury is finally completed, Dady will spring testimony by Josephine Davis, Marian's closest friend, that will clear many mysteries in connection with the case.

Josephine, it is said, will tell where young Orpet spent the night before his trial with Marian in Helma's woods.

Orpet has declared he wandered about in the snow at the McCormick estate. Dady is reported to have learned that the death trust was pre-arranged in the snow at the McCormick estate. Dady is reported to have learned that the death trust was pre-arranged in the snow at the McCormick estate.

Deputy sheriffs who spent the entire night rounding up veniremen in every hamlet of the county seeking the new panel of 100 ordered by Judge Charles Donnelly late yesterday, expressed the belief that an impartial jury cannot be secured in Lake county.

Out of nearly 500 jury prospects only thirty-six were eligible when court opened today and they are subject to thirty-six peremptory challenges the State and defense have in store.

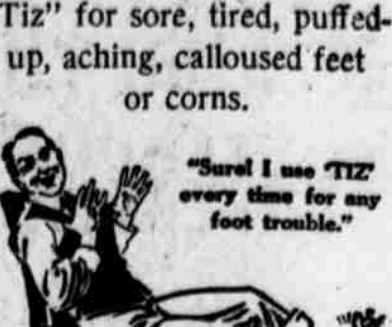

As many jury prospects have expressed belief in Orpet's innocence as in his guilt.
